

Kaiser After School Computer Class

Computer Gaming

Strategy & Problem Solving

When: Thursdays 3:00—4:00

Where: Kaiser Computer Lab

Dates: 1/5/12 - 4/5/12

Cost: $140 (14 sessions)

Who: 2nd—5th graders

Some computer games can be a great vehicle for learning while others are an incredible waste of time. Students will work with a variety of games looking at what makes a game interesting, challenging and worth playing. In this class, students will get to:

- * Try out a range of educational games looking for the perfect balance of fun to play as well as educational
- * Work with different puzzle games to develop strategic thinking
- * Play cooperative, multi-player games to practice teamwork
- * Write about their gaming and strategies for the Kaiser gaming website

Classes are taught by Rick Chan Frey, Max enrollment is 18 students.
